Whether it is a virtual online class or physical face to face, Web chats promote real-time collaboration and discussion that can lead to deeper processing of class material. The instructor can create chat sessions for free exchange of ideas, knowledge and interact with students in a real-time mode. It can be used for group discussion or one-to-one interaction.

Key Features:

- Rich text editor
- Math expression editor
- File attach option
- Status flag (Away, Busy, ...)

Announcement

The announcement tool lets instructor and administrator publish important and critical messages to recipients. These can range from simple one line welcome message to multiple important course instructions. An active announcement flashes in student's dashboard to draw their attention.

Key Features:

- Rich text editor
- Math expression editor
- File attach option
- Target recipient: Group of students or instructors
- Schedule delivery at a specific date
- Active date range

Queries is a quick way to get student's feedback/comments/clarification on an assessment item. The student, while on an active assessment screen, can send any question related to the specific assessment item on screen using the feature "Ask my Instructor". These questions/comments are sent to the instructor as queries for them to address and respond.

The survey tool can perform multiple roles in both the classroom and the administration. This is a great tool for instructors to create a periodic poll from students about their preferences for an upcoming project or general feedback on their instructor's instructional style. School administrators can conduct a quick instructor feedback or student feedback survey. The following are some key features of the survey.
